The Institute for Humane Studies (IHS) engages donors committed to advancing the principles of a free and open society through education. Rooted in the classical liberal tradition, these supporters value individual liberty, free markets, and the importance of fostering these ideas within higher education.

IHS donors respond to messaging focused on freedom of thought, intellectual diversity, and investing in future generations. They are thoughtful, engaged, and motivated by long-term impact—supporting efforts that ensure these foundational principles remain central in academic and cultural discourse.
