Pacific Legal Foundation (PLF) is a nationally respected public interest law firm that defends Americans' constitutional liberties against government overreach—by taking the government to court and winning. Since 1973, PLF has filed hundreds of strategic lawsuits to stop regulatory abuse, restore property rights, and challenge unconstitutional laws. With 18 victories out of 20 cases argued before the U.S. Supreme Court, PLF sets lasting precedents that protect individual freedom nationwide.

These donors are motivated by a belief in limited government, the rule of law, and the power of the courts to roll back administrative tyranny. Their contributions ensure PLF clients pay nothing for expert legal representation, while every victory reshapes national policy and strengthens constitutional protections for all Americans.
