The Herzog Tomorrow Foundation is a Christian non-profit organization focused on expanding Christ-centered K-12 education across the United States. With a mission to establish at least one Christian school in each of the nation's 13,800 school districts, the foundation offers an alternative to public schools, which it views as failing and ideologically compromised.

The foundation supports existing Christian schools through resources, training, and grants, while also assisting communities in starting new schools. Key initiatives include conferences, legal and administrative guidance, and mentorship for educators. Additionally, the foundation recognizes exceptional Christian educators with awards.
